

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is dense and covers most of the page, with some lines appearing to be crossed out or heavily corrected. The script is characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century.

Handwritten text at the top of the right page, possibly a header or a specific clause of the document. It is written in the same cursive script as the left page.

Handwritten signatures and names, including 'Juan de...' and 'Juan de...'. The signatures are written in a highly stylized, cursive hand.

A line of handwritten text, possibly a date or a specific reference, located below the signatures.

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific name, located below the line of text.

Handwritten text and signatures, including 'unasas...' and 'dianab...'. The text is written in a cursive script, similar to the rest of the document.