PLANERO:

This page contains handwritten text and musical notation. The text is written in a cursive script and is partially obscured by a large, dark ink blot or smudge in the center. The text appears to be a list or a set of instructions, possibly related to music or a specific craft, given the context of the adjacent page. The musical notation consists of several staves with notes and clefs, though they are also partially obscured by the blot.

The text is written in a cursive script, likely a historical form of Spanish or Italian. It is organized into several lines, with some lines starting with large, decorative initials. The text is partially obscured by a large, dark ink blot or smudge in the center, which makes some words difficult to read. The overall appearance is that of a manuscript page, possibly a page from a book or a set of instructions.

The musical notation is written on several staves, with notes and clefs visible. The notation is somewhat stylized and appears to be a historical form of musical notation. The notes are connected by lines, and there are some decorative flourishes. The overall appearance is that of a musical score or a set of musical instructions.

La Reyna doña Juana y madre de Rey de agosto de 1502

Concedida

[The main body of the document contains several lines of handwritten text in a cursive script, which is largely illegible due to the high contrast and noise of the scan. The text appears to be a formal decree or grant.]
